are seeking a teaching certification or serving in a school 33%

are pursuing a degree or other job opportunity 30%

are returning for another year of service as a Literacy Lab tutor

*7% of tutors were undecided about their next steps when they completed the end-of-year survey in May 2018.

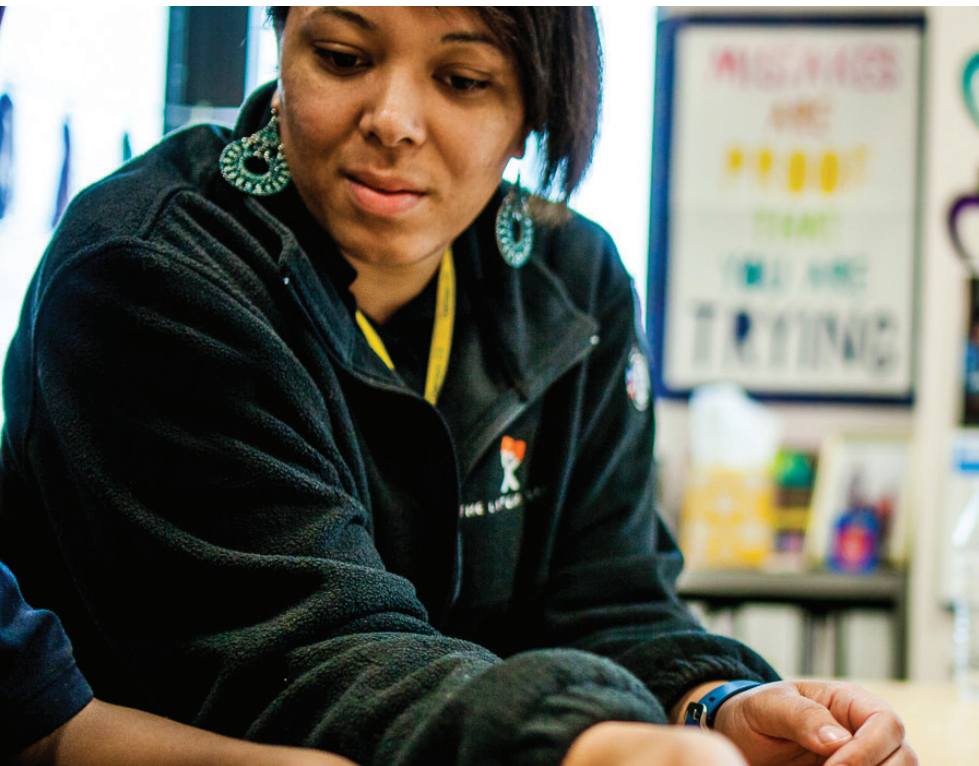

CAREFUL USE OF RESOURCES

In its 2018 fiscal year, The Literacy Lab continued to build a broad and diverse revenue stream to fuel and sustain our growth. Continued development of a robust operating reserve to keep pace with our growth remains a priority.

REVENUE $10,026,097

EXPENSES $8,561,828

“Literacy Lab students are more confident in their abilities. They’re more eager to read and make more of an effort in their classrooms.”

AMERICORPS PROGRAM

92 tutors in Metro D.C. served 1,786 students in 35 schools.
54 tutors in Virginia served 1,210 students in 29 schools.
50 tutors in Kansas City served 1,170 students in 23 schools.
35 tutors in Baltimore served 752 students in 12 schools.

231 full-time tutors in four states served 4,918 students in 99 schools.

“The most powerful experience of serving as a Literacy Lab tutor has been the ability to motivate and build trust in students who had given up on reading. They know they’ve gotten better as readers and will continue to improve over time!”
